

CURRICULUM VITAE

Dr Tharmarnadar Ganesh, India

Dr Tharmarnadar Ganesh is a senior medical physicist presently working as the chief medical physicist at the department of radiation oncology in Manipal Hospitals, New Delhi, India. He obtained his MSc and M.Phil from Anna University, Madras and PhD in medical physics from All India Institute of Medical Sciences. In the year 2013, he received Diplomate of American Board of Radiology. Dr T. Ganesh has vast experience in radiation oncology related medical physics over the last 36 years. He has published extensively in medical physics journals and associated with applied physics research related radiation oncology. Presented research findings in International forums like ASTRO and AAPM in addition to meetings and workshops in India.